

Terms and Conditions

Terms of Website Use

1. All information and material published on this website is provided for general information purposes only. The information provided does not constitute legal advice, and use of the website or contact forms does not create an attorney and client relationship.
2. If you have a specific question or legal problem and require a direct answer, or if you wish to ensure information exchanged is protected by the attorney and client relationship, please consult the legal practitioners of Michael Herbst Attorneys ("MBH Law") directly.
3. Whilst we make every effort to ensure the content on this website is updated regularly, that we provide the most recent information and opinion, we cannot be held responsible for any inaccuracy, errors, misinterpretations or omissions.
4. No representation or warranty, express or otherwise implied, is made in respect to the accuracy or completeness of materials and information on this website and as such, the information therein contained should not be relied upon in so far as the user may construe same to constitute legal advice. It is further recommended that the user consult a qualified attorney in relation to any legal matter
5. MBH Law accepts no responsibility, whether direct or consequential, for any loss or damage that may arise from using or relying on the information contained in these pages or the website.
6. Through use of the website, MBH Law grants permission to access the pages contained therein and to download the contents on a temporary basis. Copies of any page or pages are to be kept only on a temporary basis for the purpose of viewing on a single computer or monitor and not part of the website may be permanently copied, reproduced or otherwise re-distributed without the consent of Michael Herbst Attorneys.

7. Use of this website and all matters connected therewith, shall be governed by and interpreted in accordance with the law of the Republic of South Africa and all parties submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of the Republic of South Africa.

Privacy Policy

8. MBH Law may monitor visits to this website and retain information about its user traffic (including but not limited to browser-generated information and any personal information provided to us when communicating with MBH Law through this website).
9. Any information provided to MBH Law through the contact form and/or other means listed on this website, shall not be disclosed to any party unrelated to MBH Law unless:
 - 9.1. The user has provided its written consent, which shall not unreasonably be withheld;
 - 9.2. If we are under a legal, regulator or professional obligation to do so;
 - 9.3. We make use third party service providers to provide services that include but are not limited to data processing and web hosting (where we will ensure that the appropriate safeguards are in place to protect your personal information).
10. The user is entitled to request details about any and all information that MBH Law may hold about it. Should the user wish to request a copy of the information held, the user must forward their request to info@mbhlaw.co.za